

The mission of the Italian Task Force is to facilitate the implementation of gender balance in science and create an enabling environment to integrate gender dimension into science policy and research management.

The Italian task force will discuss the measures for promoting gender equality in Research, as well as conditions that facilitate women's substantial representation in science, in R&D decision-making processes and their participation at the highest level of research management.

The Italian task force will participate to the workshops organized within the GENDERA project to discuss and exchange ideas and experiences between members about gender balance in the scientific fields. The Task Force meetings will also serve as an effective tool to increase the commitment of policy/decision makers and various actors involved to advance the current situation on gender balance in research positions in Italy.
